Rosebud Cottage

The British Isles have long been a source of artistic inspiration and personal refuge for me on my own life's journey. The English countryside is speckled with delightful villages which entice the eye and is graced with a quiet simplicity in lifestyle for the peaceful souls who live there. Every visit to England is a chance for me to refresh the vision of my artist's spirit and renew all of my hopes and dreams for a future that is just another day away. I pray that "Rosebud Cottage" (inspired by an actual cottage I sketched on one of my visits to England) can provide a similar experience for my friends who view it.

The glowing lights, the welcoming arbors and the colorful gardens of the cottage were lovingly created to not only enthrall the eye but also to inspire a sense of family and home, a place where we plant the seeds of contentment and hope to watch them flourish into a growth of joy. May "Rosebud Cottage" provide that hope to those who need it and strengthen it for those who already embrace a brighter future in their own lives.
